

Cork Ball Tablet Lamp

The glass is from the Bauhaus School of Design, remade in traditional Polish glassworks using the original forms from the period. Opaline glass is hand blown into these moulds to give the quality and feel of its original design. We have added a porcelain core, also made to the original specifications with a wonderful hand glazed finish and cork base giving a slightly Scandinavian feel to the lamp. Although with a vintage shape the peaceful, simplicity of the natural materials used makes this a perfect choice for contemporary or rustic interiors. Various hues of colour can be achieved with opaline glass by changing the bulb used.
